Hi John,

I wanted to reach out to your department and see if anyone on your team has come across Babel Street? I'm reaching out to Police Departments that might have heard of us, but have not yet gotten a chance to speak yet.

We're working with a large number of Departments and Fusion Centers across the United States because our mission aligns well with what you guys are trying to accomplish. Right now, we are helping them with threat detection, situational awareness, and event monitoring by looking at 50 publicly available data sources in over 200 languages.

I would love to set up some time for an introductory call, if someone on your team has a couple of minutes open next week?

Thanks,
Kevin
