Good Afternoon Everyone,

I wanted to thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedules to meet with me this week.

It was very insightful to understand how you currently investigate Social Media and how we can assist you in that process.

We are having great success enabling Investigators to conduct Social Media investigations in an accurate, timely and efficient manner.

Kindly let me know what we can do next in regards to demonstrations and sample queries or anything you require to move forward in getting your Department our solutions?

We currently work with the Brooklyn District Attorney's Office and the Special Narcotics Unit in Manhattan. We are providing services or are in contract with several other departments and agencies.

Please feel free to reach out to Steven Goldstein - Chief Assistant District Attorney at 212-815-0913 or sgoldstein@snp.nyc.gov or Bill Power - Chief Information Officer at Kings County District Attorney's Office at 718-250-3470 or powerw@brooklynda.org

They are more than happy to share their success with our tools.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you for your time and consideration. It was a pleasure to meet you.

Have a great weekend.

Subject: October 20th meeting

Good Morning Chief Lanier,

I am emailing you to introduce myself and my organization to your Investigative Unit in regard to Law Enforcement Social Media Investigations.

We currently work with the Special Narcotics Unit in New York as well as the Brooklyn District Attorney's Office. We most recently worked with Homeland Security on the Pope's visit.

I am meeting with the Dept. of Justice in your area on October 20th and I would like to get a meeting on the calendar to provide you and/or any of your Investigators with a brief demonstration while I am in town?

My company works with Police Departments, Special Investigative Units and Prosecutor's Offices to aid in Social Media platform investigations. We are able to search individuals, groups, organizations and topics to give you specific answers in a quick and accurate fashion in regards to Social Media activity and relationships.

We have a pdf reader (called Genesis) which helps pull and organize information from subpoenaed interactions sent from Social Media companies. Investigators have frequently voiced one of their biggest challenges is to get specific information in a timely fashion due to the size and volume of these court ordered transcripts.

Our proprietary social media investigation tool (called Voyager) collects open-source data from Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Google+, and Tumblr to provide you access to:

- Social profiles - access to connected networks, posts, likes, and comments
- User connections - quickly pull together followers and friendships, posts, and interactions within user networks

- Data collection - that data is permanently accessible and available for analysis (it remains collected forever) on our platform even if the user deletes their profile or turns up in connection with a separate investigation
- Search by topic and profile - search social media chatter referencing specific keywords and/or locations
- Connections of connections - map and analyze a network of suspects and/or possible witnesses
- Geofencing - listen to chatter emanating from event or crime scene to find potential witnesses to a crime
- International reach - instantly translate 30+ languages into English, including Spanish, Arabic, Russian, and Chinese
- Activists and Disruptors - discover new insights about movements, cult or underground groups by identifying activists, disruptors and tapping into their networks

If you want, you can provide me a name in any case you are working on, we will run a live data collection and use the results for the purposes of our demonstration.

We have strong references from any agency that we are working with and they welcome speaking to your office to let you know how they are currently having success using our tools.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to meeting you.

Have a great day.

Good Afternoon Lieutenant [REDACTED],

As per our conversation, I've attached the two 1 page handouts for the attendees for tomorrow's presentation.

The other attendee from our end will be Hendrik van der Meulen

I am picking up my rental car shortly but I am staying at the Westin which is in walking distance so I don't think I will need parking. Once I get the info, I will forward it to you but I wanted to get this to you right away.

Thank you for your time and cooperation. I look forward to meeting you tomorrow.

Have a great evening.

The Genesis software from Voyager Analytics is the only investigation tool exclusively used by law enforcement. Traditionally, law enforcement submits requests for a suspect's records from social media providers and then a PDF document is submitted which results in the investigators manually sifting through large quantities of data. Genesis reads the PDF, extracts it into an easy-to-read format, and draws on trends to research and analyze key data points. Genesis completes the process much faster than the typical law enforcement workflow and allows them to organize their conclusions in customizable presentation formats.

Subject: Potential Protests at Target Stores in DC/MD/VA This Afternoon

Good Afternoon Team,

We just learned a few minutes ago that there is a social media movement calling for protests/looting of Target stores all across the country in response to the in-custody death of George Floyd in Minnesota (Target HQ is based in Minneapolis, MN). I just spoke with the D.C. regional security manager for Target and they are aware of planned protests in Prince George's County and D.C. (Columbia Heights specifically mentioned). This is just for everyone's awareness in case you hear anything about it. SOD will have a unit to monitor each D.C. location. Also got word of a "pop up" demo at Freedom Plaza this afternoon for the same reason. Intel's Threats/First Amendment Squad will be monitoring that one.

While we are talking about this, I want to take a moment to remind everyone to keep a cool head and be safe out there. I'm sure you have all have seen the video of George Floyd's death, but if you haven't here is the link:

https://youtu.be/4lGQ\_2K4l5c

There have been multiple examples of MPD officers getting assaulted recently. With the Stay At Home Order and social distancing going almost three months now, people are going stir crazy and tensions are running high. I don't want any of you getting injured because of the craziness that is going on out there, so please make sure you aren't going out on the streets alone and be safe.

Thank you all for your dedication and all that you do.

LT-

Event Name: First Amendment Activities

JOCC Activation Effective Date: April 19, 2021

JOCC Activation Effective Time: 1400 hours

Daily Situation Summary:

On Monday, May 25, 2020, George Floyd died in the custody of Minneapolis Police after being stopped for a crime that occurred earlier that day. During the stop of Mr. Floyd, Officer Derek Chauvin knelt on Mr. Floyd's neck for over eight minutes, before Mr. Floyd died. In the following days, protests swept the nation, in which at times, turned into riots. The District of Columbia experienced riots and there have been continued demonstrations since June of 2020.

In the aftermath, Minneapolis Police Department terminated Derek Chauvin and he was subsequently arrested and charged with second-degree murder, third-degree murder, and second-degree manslaughter. On Monday, March 8, 2021, jury selection began with opening statements occurring on Monday, March 29, 2021. The trial is expected to end sometime in the following week.

Due to the high-profile stature of this trial and the potential for civil unrest at the outcome, the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) will be fully activated. This manual serves as an overview of MPD's activation and response to any demonstration and the goal to ensure demonstrations are conducted safely and to minimize any violence or destruction - if it happens. It should be noted this is a general overview and daily operations may vary based upon the day's intelligence.

On Monday, April 19, 2021, MPD will activate CDU platoons and staff traffic posts in case road closures are needed. MPD will work closely with the United States Park Police (USPP) and other law enforcement agencies to ensure the safety of the public and any potential demonstrators.

The Investigative Services Bureau (ISB), Professional Development Bureau (PDB), and the Internal Affairs Bureau (IAB) will provide personnel for road closures. NSID will support these operations with personnel for Mass Arrest Processing and from the Electronic Surveillance Unit. Further, the Criminal Investigations Division, Internal Affairs Division, and Intelligence Division will activate personnel to assist and the Special Operations Division will be activated to assist with any demonstrations during this timeframe.

The objective of MPD is to assist with the safe execution of any First Amendment demonstration and ensure the safety of the participants, public, and the officers. CDU personnel and SOD members will monitor for any demonstration and/or violent activity and respond accordingly.

Officers are reminded to be vigilant and on the lookout for any suspicious activities, no matter how small, and immediately report it to their official. Officers shall have with them at all times their issued Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), Chem/Bio Equipment, and wear a face-covering while outside of their vehicle or anywhere in the public.

CCNs for today are 21-049-720.

Event Intelligence/Threat Assessment

Due to the volatile political climate during the past year, the COVID pandemic, and demonstrations resulting from the deaths of individuals during police encounters, there is the potential for demonstrations in the District of Columbia. Within the past year, some of these demonstrations have turned violent with physical injury and destruction to public and private property. In relation to events taking place around the city, members must remain extremely vigilant for suspicious activity. Further, the Intel Division will continue to monitor for any new information.

Event Intelligence/Threat Assessment

Due to the volatile political climate during the past year, the COVID pandemic, and demonstrations resulting from the deaths of individuals during police encounters, there is the potential for demonstrations in the District of Columbia. Within the past year, some of these demonstrations have turned violent with physical injury and destruction to public and private property. In relation to events taking place around the city, members must remain extremely vigilant for suspicious activity. Further, the Intel Division will continue to monitor for any new information.

Planned Demonstrations for Wednesday, April 21, 2021:

Good Afternoon All,

We just learned a few minutes ago that there is a social media movement calling for protests/looting of Target stores all across the country in response to the in-custody death of George Floyd in Minnesota (Target HQ is based in Minneapolis, MN). I just spoke with the D.C. regional security manager for Target and they are aware of planned protests in Prince George's County and D.C. Additionally, [REDACTED] from VSP just sent a Twitter posting of a potential protest/looting at the Target in Woodbridge, VA. I wanted to get this information out to everyone ASAP so you can notify your patrol districts of these events for their awareness. If anyone does have an incident in their AOR, I would appreciate it if you would email me so I can make sure the group is notified.

Thank you,

Group will meet at 1600 hours at the Safeway Parking lot at 322 40th Street NE and perform a car caravan throughout DC. Unknown route, unknown number of people attending.

*** In addition to these demonstrations, there were also multiple individuals posting their disgust with the actions of protesters last night and this morning. There was also nationwide calls for law enforcement to begin to physically disperse protesters and stop the property damage. There is concern that some of these individuals may attempt to take matters into their own hands and lead to an incident such as when James Fields Jr drove his vehicle into a crowd of demonstrators in 2017 in Charlottesville, VA.

We will continue to work with our LE partners and will update information to this group throughout the day. Please call with any specific questions or concerns.

FYSA We found information on social media regarding an emergency protest today at 6:30pm at the Columbia Heights Civil Plaza, 2.4 miles away from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Google Maps estimates the distance is a 48 minute walk or 14 minute drive. The protest does not specifically mention the Chamber; it was organized to condemn the actions of the Wisconsin Police Department over the shooting of Jacob Blake and for Treyford Pellerin, who was shot and killed by Metropolitan Police Department officers in Washington D.C.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] URGENT: Potential Protests/Looting at Target Stores Located in the NCR

Good Afternoon All,

We just learned a few minutes ago that there is a social media movement calling for protests/looting of Target stores all across the country in response to the in-custody death of George Floyd in Minnesota (Target HQ is based in Minneapolis, MN). I just spoke with the D.C. regional security manager for Target and they are aware of planned protests in Prince George's County and D.C. Additionally, Ben Tyler from VSP just sent a Twitter posting of a potential protest/looting at the Target in Woodbridge, VA. I wanted to get this information out to everyone ASAP so you can notify your patrol districts of these events for their awareness. If anyone does have an incident in their AOR, I would appreciate it if you would email me so I can make sure the group is notified.

Thank you,

Hopefully, we will have peaceful protests again tonight. Looks like scattered t-storms between 1800 and 2000 hrs tonight. Maybe that will help keep down crowds. I will be looking all day and send out whatever I find.

Subject: George Floyd Protests

Good Evening All,

I hate to bother you all so late in the night but I wanted to say thank you all for your diligence in sending out information about protests in D.C. regarding the George Floyd in-custody death in Minneapolis. As I'm sure everyone is aware, the violence is escalating rapidly across the U.S. NYC made over 40 arrests today and had multiple NYPD officers injured from these protests, Minneapolis just had a second police precinct overrun and destroyed, and there was a shooting at a Denver protest. That is only a few of the incidents across the country.

Today we had a small group of about 20 protesters start off at Freedom Plaza and march around the city but they were peaceful. The organizer has posted on social media that they will be back again tomorrow afternoon at 1700 hours at 14th and U Streets NW. I would appreciate it if everyone could keep checking social media for any pop up demonstrations and send them to this group for everyone's awareness. So far we are tracking the following protests coming up within the next few days, courtesy of USPP Sergeant Varanelli:

Copy. You're still getting a decent amount of social media communication that people are coming to join the protest. Not huge numbers, but more than we normally see.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] URGENT: Potential Protests/Looting at Target Stores Located in the NCR

Good Afternoon All,

We just learned a few minutes ago that there is a social media movement calling for protests/looting of Target stores all across the country in response to the in-custody death of George Floyd in Minnesota (Target HQ is based in Minneapolis, MN). I just spoke with the D.C. regional security manager for Target and they are aware of planned protests in Prince George's County and D.C. Additionally, Ben Tyler from VSP just sent a Twitter posting of a potential protest/looting at the Target in Woodbridge, VA. I wanted to get this information out to everyone ASAP so you can notify your patrol districts of these events for their awareness. If anyone does have an incident in their AOR, I would appreciate it if you would email me so I can make sure the group is notified.

Thank you,

Hopefully, we will have peaceful protests again tonight. Looks like scattered t-storms between 1800 and 2000 hrs tonight. Maybe that will help keep down crowds. I will be looking all day and send out whatever I find.

Subject: George Floyd Protests

Good Evening All,

I hate to bother you all so late in the night but I wanted to say thank you all for your diligence in sending out information about protests in D.C. regarding the George Floyd in-custody death in Minneapolis. As I'm sure everyone is aware, the violence is escalating rapidly across the U.S. NYC made over 40 arrests today and had multiple NYPD officers injured from these protests, Minneapolis just had a second police precinct overrun and destroyed, and there was a shooting at a Denver protest. That is only a few of the incidents across the country.

Today we had a small group of about 20 protesters start off at Freedom Plaza and march around the city but they were peaceful. The organizer has posted on social media that they will be back again tomorrow afternoon at 1700 hours at 14th and U Streets NW. I would appreciate it if everyone could keep checking social media for any pop up demonstrations and send them to this group for everyone's awareness. So far we are tracking the following protests coming up within the next few days, courtesy of USPP [REDACTED]:

FYSA –

#1 Date specific intel. No direct link to DC yet that I have seen...

#2 Background intel on a new group

#1 - Anti-fascists call for day of action in solidarity with Breonna Taylor death on 13 March

On 13 March 2021, Seattle Black Anarcho Coalition has called for a day of action to commemorate the anniversary of the death of Breonna Taylor who was killed by police in Louisville, Kentucky in 2020.

The group stated on social media:

"[13 March] is the day our sister Breonna Taylor was murdered by pigs. Mark this day is your calendars. There will be action on this day. There will be retribution. #seattleprotests #seattleprotestcomms #BreonnaTaylor.

"[13 March] is a day for revenge."

West Coast Whisper Web, an antifascist group that regularly circulates protest activity in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, supported the day of action:

"Everywhere. [13 March] Day of Action for Breonna.

"NO JUSTICE NO FUKKING PEACE. GET READY. Get your crew, make a plan, be water, spread fire. #JusticeforBreonnaTaylor #NoJusticeNoPeace #InjusticeSystem."

Notable Black Lives Matter anniversaries, such as the death of Breonna Taylor, along with George Floyd's death (25 May), and Juneteenth (19 June), provide activists with an opportunity to renew their demands, raise awareness, and issue calls for action.

Calls for coordinated action on the anniversary death of Breonna Taylor raise the risk of solidarity protests in major metropolitan areas across the US. This has the potential to result in violence, arrests, vandalism and other acts of civil disobedience – as was observed in September 2020 following the grand jury announcement that resulted in a single indictment of one former police officer involved in the shooting death of Taylor. Police, law enforcement, courthouses, and other public spaces remain popular targets.

#2 - 'Northeastern Young Anarchists Network' launched in US

Anti-establishment activists and anarchists have launched the 'Northeastern Young Anarchists Network' (NYAN) in the US to connect 'anti-authoritarian leftists'. The organizers noted that it may transition to an 'action-oriented network' eventually.

The founders hoped that the network would allow those on the far-left to "discuss the finer points of anarchist theory and debate without the feeling that we must necessarily band together homogeneously to debate or counter authoritarian leftist views within activism groups."

The network includes "libertarian socialist members of several broadly leftist student activism groups on college campuses in the American northeast."

In addition to a discussion space, NYAN will "also become a communal space in which to share our various ideas and projects, enjoy ourselves, as well possibly transition into an action-oriented network at some point."

A signup form for the network indicated that it communicated via Signal and Jitsi.

To honor our ancestors and to lay a path to freedom for future generations, we are calling for the six nineteen mobilization on Juneteenth weekend."<sup>vii</sup>

- Analyst Comment: Per MPD, they are treating the above two demonstrations as completely separate events even though there are overlapping organizers. The M4BL event on the National Mall is a planned, organized, event approved by the city. Shut Down DC is a totally separate series of events that has not been submitted to the city for approval.<sup>viii</sup>
- Analyst Comment: Shut Down DC organized a demonstration on September 23, 2019. The group committed civil disobedience by blocking traffic using disabled vehicles, boats, burning trash cans, and human chains. Approximately 32 protesters were arrested across DC, including six arrests by USCP. At this time there are no indications they plan to commit civil disobedience. IICD will continue to monitor open sources and liaise with our law enforcement partners.<sup>ix x</sup>

A global pandemic is exposing even more the already existing crisis of systemic racism, poverty, ecological devastation, the war economy and militarism, and the distorted moral narrative of religious nationalism. On June 20, the 140 million poor and low-wealth people across this nation will be heard!"<sup>xvi</sup>

- Analyst Comment: This information is provided for situational awareness only. The event was originally planned as an in-person protest then organizers changed it to an online demonstration due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Unsubstantiated Social Media Comments:

- A Twitter user with 2,179 followers is asking for volunteers to distribute water and personal protective equipment (PPE) at an unspecified demonstration on "next Saturday" (June 20). No further information at this time. This may be referring to one of the June 20 demonstrations listed above.<sup>xxiii</sup>
- According to open source information, a group called Mochella will purportedly assemble at Black Lives Matter Plaza on June 19 to hold a Go-Go event. Attendance unknown. VERY LOW level of concern at this time.<sup>xxiv</sup> *
- A Facebook user created an event called "Luciferian March for a One World Government Washington DC." The event will purportedly take place at the White House on June 21 at 1400 hours. IIICD assesses that this event page is a joke and included for situational awareness only. VERY LOW level of concern at this time, there is only a REMOTE chance that this event will take place.<sup>xxv</sup>
- IIICD and MPD-HSB are tracking a social media group called "2 Million March" which plans to hold a DC-area protest at an undetermined future date. The group has over 129,500 members. No further information available at this time.<sup>xxvi</sup>

Analyst Comments

Organizers publicize their events on social media in order to maximize attendance and participation. While the above protests are purportedly peaceful demonstrations, extremists seeking to commit acts of violence or property destruction may attach themselves to these events. Protesters may also change their location in response to police presence and crowd control measures. Additional spontaneous or unadvertised protests may also occur without warning. Officers should remain vigilant at all times.

IIICD will continue to monitor the situation, identify information gaps, and provide updates as needed.

To report suspicious activity, USCP personnel should follow established protocols. Suspicious activity reports (SARs) will be forwarded to Investigations Division.

All,

Analysts identified far-right extremists on Telegram discussing the Patriot Prayer supporter's killing in Portland, Oregon and warning of violence on the Telegram channels "Tommy Robinson News" and "Official Proud Boys Britannia":

If this is true and an Antifa scumbag shot someone from patriot prayer in the back then it's a declaration of war.

Leftists comparing that to the Kyle Rittenhouse situation are comparing apples to oranges to justify a murder.

At least that's what it looks like on its face.

I will wait for more details to emerge. One thing I do know is that Portland is a cess pit of left wing retardation, intolerance and hatred

The post included a link to a YouTube video, "Welcome to Biden's America," posted by "Clown World" on August 30, 2020.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7X0\_AVgdZZ4

YT users commented on the above video:

RIP to the Patriot. You will have justice even if you cannot witness it. Ready easy. Prayers to your family and friends.

To the person who shot you. We are coming for you Scumbag!

Other YT users posted the address of the individual a 4chan user identified as the alleged perpetrator and threatened violence:

- Here are the leftist's details. Michael Reinoehl 3604 SE Powell Valley Rd. #317, Gresham, OR 97080 503-421-0293

In addition, far-right users on Telegram are circulating an article by The Gateway Pundit claiming that a 4chan user identified the Portland perpetrator as an antifa member.

All,

Flashpoint analysts identified links to current live streams being broadcasted on YouTube and Cytube—a platform used to promote and share videos and live streams and allows users to engage in real-time conversations.

The “WOKE” YouTube channel is currently live streaming the Black Lives Matter event in Washington DC and was identified on the far-right Telegram channel "🇺🇸BASED 🇺🇸🇸🇸 CHAT US🇺🇸." In addition, a Cytube admin posted a link to the same livestream on /leftypol/ [leftist politically incorrect] board on the far-left imageboard Bunkerchan.

All,

On August 27, 2020, Flashpoint analysts identified the National Socialist Order (formerly known as the Atomwaffen Division) posting images on their Telegram channel, glorifying Kyle Rittenhouse and inciting violence against antifa, Black Lives Matter, and Jews (please note that the images below contain expletive language). Although the posts do not mention upcoming protests and demonstrations in Washington DC, it is worth noting because these images are related to the recent protests and unrest in Wisconsin and incite members and supporters to conduct violence.

For context, Atomwaffen Division (AWD) is a neo-Nazi accelerationist group that advocates for hastening the collapse of society, through violence, to rebuild a white ethnostate in its place. AWD is considered one of the most dangerous neo-Nazi groups in the country. The group's members have plotted terrorist attacks and conducted five murders. In March 2020, AWD announced it was officially disbanding in light of the recent government arrests of its members. In July 2020, the National Socialist Order (NSO) was allegedly created by remaining AWD members and leadership.

Thanks [REDACTED] Team, below is what we were going to pass to the DC Fusion Center in case they weren't already tracking.

Passing along the below as we figured PID might want awareness on it if they're not already tracking.

Our team is monitoring groups on both sides, antifa and anti-government militia groups, organizing for the March on Washington. Currently, our team has not identified any far-right extremist groups posting or planning to participate or demonstrate in the March on Washington.

However, our team identified a number of noteworthy items:

YouTube livestream from August 24, 2020 in Kenosha, WI. Analysts identified one of the comments: "Kill the blue like they kill you."

It is important to note that since the outbreak of nationwide protests in the aftermath of George Floyd's murder, Matzo analysts identified far-right extremists online operating a number of Telegram channels that appear to be supporting the Black Lives

Matter movement, promoting protests and rallies. We will continue to monitor these channels closely in the coming days.

Good Afternoon All,

We just learned a few minutes ago that there is a social media movement calling for protests/looting of Target stores all across the country in response to the in-custody death of George Floyd in Minnesota (Target HQ is based in Minneapolis, MN). I just spoke with the D.C. regional security manager for Target and they are aware of planned protests in Prince George's County and D.C. Additionally, Ben Tyler from VSP just sent a Twitter posting of a potential protest/looting at the Target in Woodbridge, VA. I wanted to get this information out to everyone ASAP so you can notify your patrol districts of these events for their awareness. If anyone does have an incident in their AOR, I would appreciate it if you would email me so I can make sure the group is notified.

#1 Date specific intel. No direct link to DC yet that I have seen...

#2 Background intel on a new group

#1 - Anti-fascists call for day of action in solidarity with Breonna Taylor death on 13 March

On 13 March 2021, Seattle Black Anarcho Coalition has called for a day of action to commemorate the anniversary of the death of Breonna Taylor who was killed by police in Louisville, Kentucky in 2020.

The group stated on social media:

"[13 March] is the day our sister Breonna Taylor was murdered by pigs. Mark this day is your calendars. There will be action on this day. There will be retribution. #seattleprotests #seattleprotestcomms #BreonnaTaylor.

"[13 March] is a day for revenge."

West Coast Whisper Web, an antifascist group that regularly circulates protest activity in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, supported the day of action:

"Everywhere. [13 March] Day of Action for Breonna.

"NO JUSTICE NO FUKKING PEACE. GET READY. Get your crew, make a plan, be water, spread fire. #JusticeforBreonnaTaylor #NoJusticeNoPeace #InjusticeSystem."

Notable Black Lives Matter anniversaries, such as the death of Breonna Taylor, along with George Floyd's death (25 May), and Juneteenth (19 June), provide activists with an opportunity to renew their demands, raise awareness, and issue calls for action.

Calls for coordinated action on the anniversary death of Breonna Taylor raise the risk of solidarity protests in major metropolitan areas across the US. This has the potential to result in violence, arrests, vandalism and other acts of civil disobedience – as was observed in September 2020 following the grand jury announcement that resulted in a single indictment of one former police officer involved in the shooting death of Taylor. Police, law enforcement, courthouses, and other public spaces remain popular targets.

#2 - 'Northeastern Young Anarchists Network' launched in US

Anti-establishment activists and anarchists have launched the 'Northeastern Young Anarchists Network' (NYAN) in the US to connect 'anti-authoritarian leftists'. The organizers noted that it may transition to an 'action-oriented network' eventually.

The founders hoped that the network would allow those on the far-left to "discuss the finer points of anarchist theory and debate without the feeling that we must necessarily band together homogeneously to debate or counter authoritarian leftist views within activism groups."

The network includes "libertarian socialist members of several broadly leftist student activism groups on college campuses in the American northeast."

In addition to a discussion space, NYAN will "also become a communal space in which to share our various ideas and projects, enjoy ourselves, as well possibly transition into an action-oriented network at some point."

A signup form for the network indicated that it communicated via Signal and Jitsi.

#1 - Justice 4 All 'national day of action' on 6 March

On 6 March 2021, campaigners have called for a “national day of action” in solidarity with social and racial justice movements in the US.

Organizers explained that the day of action would primarily focus on the Justice for George Floyd and defund the police campaign. According to the organizers, actions would take place in Boston, Baltimore, New York City, Dayton, Minneapolis, Chicago, and Washington, DC, as well as in multiple cities in Texas, Georgia, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Michigan, and California. They asked for any groups who wanted to participate by organizing solidarity events in their city or state to reach out to national organizers to have their event added to the official list.

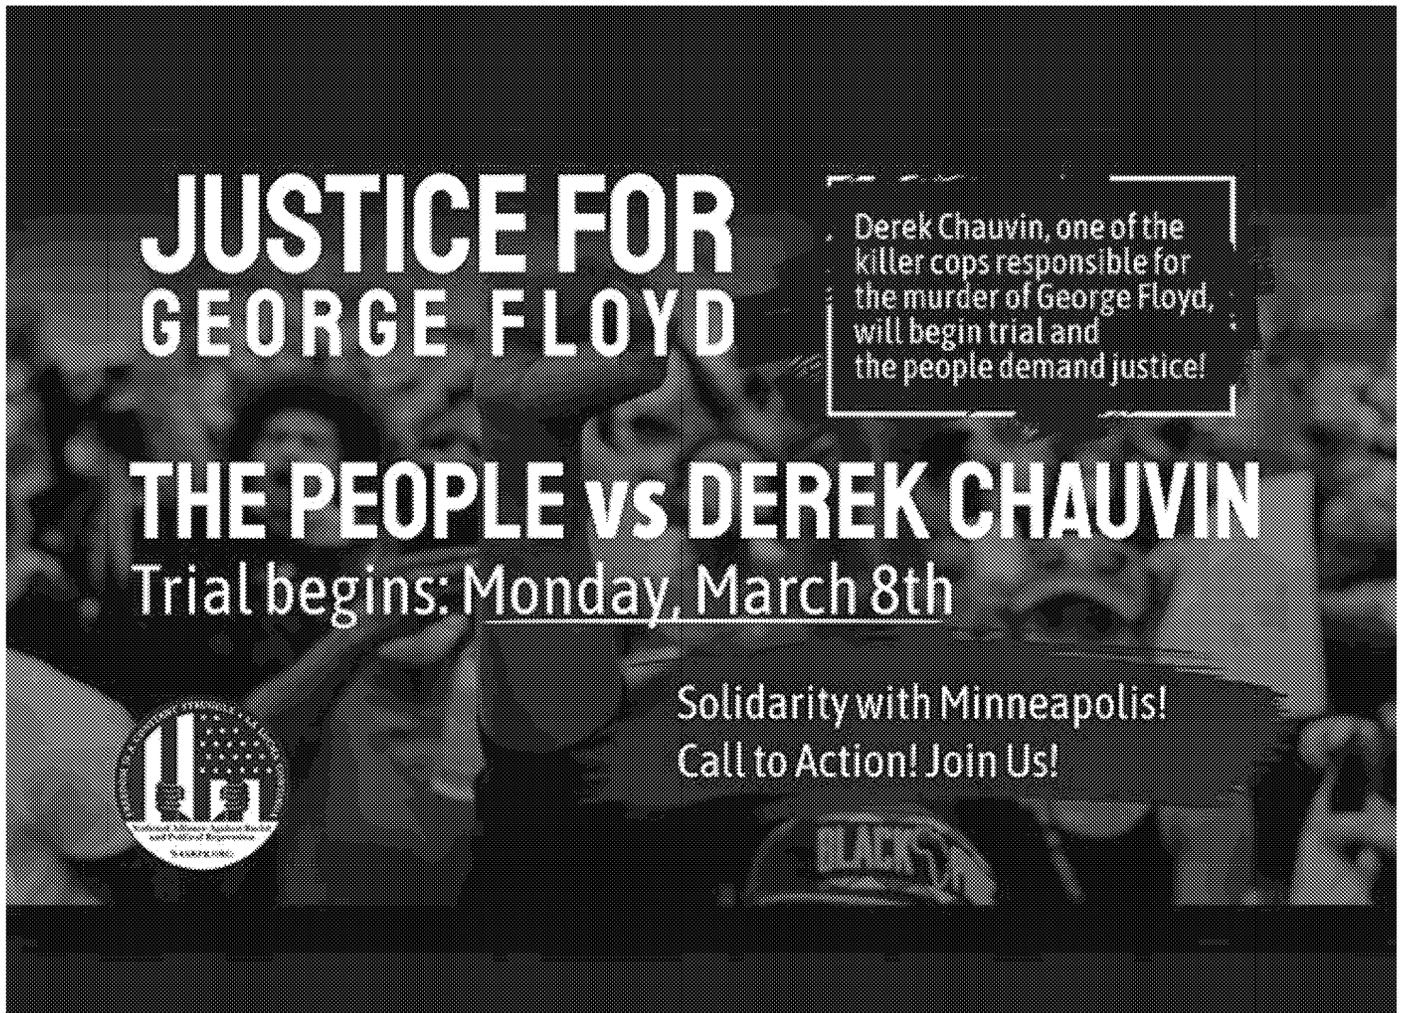

Specific protest details were not revealed. The call to protest has not been widely circulated. The event coincides with the start of the trial of Derek Chauvin, the Minneapolis Police officer accused of George Floyd’s death. The trial is scheduled to begin on 8 March 2021. Despite this, Chauvin’s trial has the potential to spark protests across the US, as has been seen with organizing for Derek Chauvin’s trial the anniversary of Breonna Taylor’s death.

The day of action demanded:

- Justice for George Floyd! Justice 4 All families whose loved ones were brutalized or slain by police!
- Prosecute the police! Reopen all past cases of police brutality!
- End the system of policing as we know it!

Mass Action Against Police Brutality (MAAPB) promoted the day of action. Established in 2015, it works to represent those affected by ‘police brutality’. MAAPB has a moderate following on social media. It had organized a Black Lives Matter protest in St. Paul, Minnesota.

#2 - National day of action' on first day of George Floyd trial on 8 March

On 8 March 2021, National Alliance Against Racist & Political Repression \(NAAPR\) has called for a 'national day of action' to mark the start of the murder trial of ex-Minneapolis cop Derek Chauvin in George Floyd's death in Hennepin County.

NAAPR explained that on the first day of the trial, jury selection, Minnesota organizers will hold a mass protest outside the Hennepin County Government Center in Minneapolis. It urged "all organizations that want justice for George Floyd to endorse this call" and to "hold solidarity rallies" in cities nationally.

The group asserted that "this trial is not only important for Minnesota, which has never seen a white police officer prosecuted for murdering a Black person. It is important for the entire country, which was set aflame in rebellion after Floyd's murder. We will not rest until we see all four of George Floyd's killers taken off the streets, and our communities have the power to decide who polices our communities and how our communities are policed."

NAAPR is assisting in the coordination of solidarity actions across the US. It advised those traveling to Minneapolis to contact Twin Cities Coalition for Justice 4 Jamar.

Based in Chicago, NAAPR promoted protests in response to George Floyd's death. The call to protest has not been widely circulated and NAAPR has a limited following on social media. Despite this, Chauvin's trial has the potential to spark protests across the US, as has been seen with organizing for the anniversary of Breonna Taylor's death.

#3 - Protests to mark start of Chauvin trial in Minneapolis on 8 March

On 8 March 2021, there will be protests to demand 'justice for George Floyd' at the Hennepin City Government Center. The day marks the start of the trial for former Minneapolis police officer Derrick Chauvin.

Protest organizers stated: "The people demand justice for all stolen lives. Convict all killer cops. The murder of George Floyd by these killer police officers is a devastating example of the many lives stolen at the hands of police in our community as well as the world at large. Derek Chauvin represents what is wrong with police in Minneapolis and in this country, and now is the time to demand due justice for George Floyd and set the precedent in seeking justice for every stolen life."

Twin Cities Coalition for Justice 4 Jamar said that it was going to protest because "... while our city was burning, county attorney Mike Freeman was negotiating a backroom deal with George Floyd's murderer, so Chauvin would plead to a lesser charge, and there would be no trial. Freeman wasn't going to charge his co-conspirators at all, so there'd be no trial for them either..."

It added: "You can be damn sure, now is not the time to stop demanding justice. If you want Chauvin to face the harshest possible legal punishment, then be in the streets to make sure the system knows that we won't accept a compromise. If you want Floyd's other killers brought to justice, then you have a duty to help keep the pressure on. And if you hope to someday see justice for the other lives stolen by police, this is the time to make sure you are heard, loud and clear."

Among the organizations planning to protest are the Anti-War Committee, Black Lives Matter MN, CAIR-MN, CAIR-MN, Climate Justice Committee, Communities United Against Police Brutality, Families Supporting Families Against Police Violence, Freedom Road Socialist Organization - Twin Cities, Good Trouble for Justice, MN Immigrant Rights Action Committee, MN Uprising Arrestee Support, MN Workers United, Native Lives Matter, On Site Public Media, Racial Justice Network, Students for Democratic Society at UMN, Twin Cities Coalition 4 Justice 4 Jamar, and Women Against Military Madness.

Protesters will gather at 8.30am outside of the Hennepin County Government Center.

#4 - Proud Boys leader warns more violence 'likely' if far-right members remain 'alienated'

Proud Boys leader Enrique Tarrio has suggested that if far-right groups and their members continue to be 'alienated' by the Biden Administration, it is likely that more violent events similar to the riot at the US Capitol will be organized.

In an interview conducted by Channel 4 News, Tarrio suggested that the Biden administration needed to "reach out" to those individuals and groups who were part of, or supported, the riot at the US Capitol. He argued that those people acted because they believed they were being marginalized, forgotten, and left behind, and that the Biden administration was going to exacerbate these feelings. "[Trump supporters] are being persecuted," Tarrio argued.

"If the Biden administration does not reach out to these people in one way or another, what you're seeing [at the Capitol] right now is what you are going to see for the next four years," Tarrio said. "Imagine [a similar incident] happens in Richmond, Virginia, with guns. Somewhere that its 'open carry' and [the rioters] are like 'F*ck you! We're not leaving here, not until we get what we want'. What's going to happen? What's the next step?"

Tarrio added that it was unlikely Trump supporters would 'de-escalate' during a future action because the 'movement' had 'transcended' Trump's re-election and the fight for the presidency. He suggested that Trump supporters and far-right groups were focusing on the perceived systemic opposition from the government to suppress them.

Subject: RE: Intelligence Subcommittee Meeting Notes for 2 March 2021

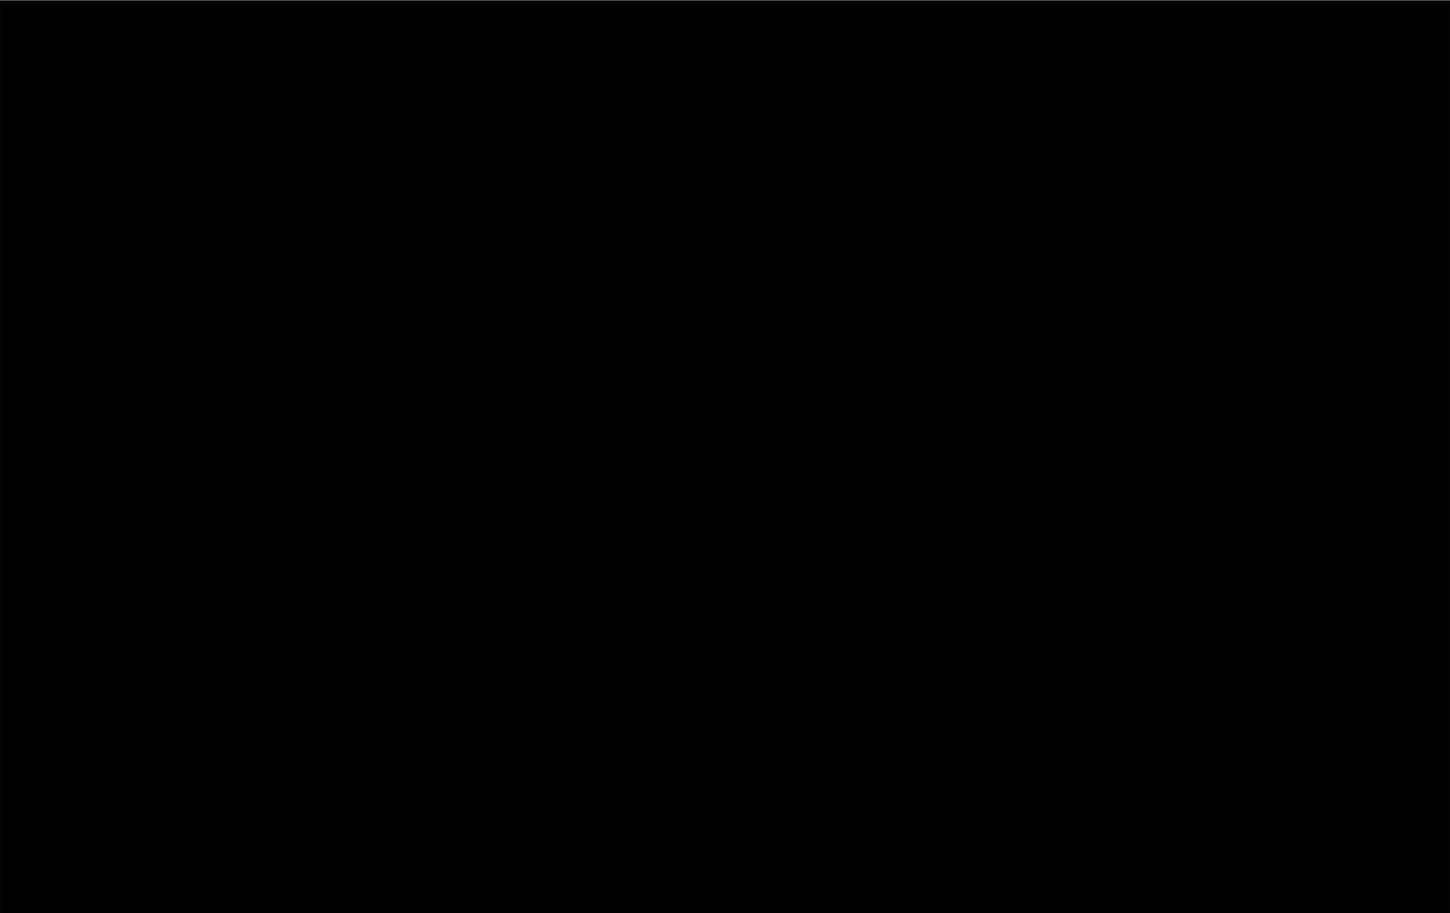

Good Afternoon,

MPD is aware of and monitoring social media chatter regarding the potential March 4th and 6th events. At this time, MPD is not aware of any real-world planning for an event on either day. Additionally, hotel and bus parking reservations in the NCR remain extremely low for the period of March 3rd-6th, indicating that there are no plans for a mass event in Washington, DC during this period.

With respect to the March 6th "worldwide day of action" proposed by England-based antifa groups, a few U.S. based antifa groups posted on social media that they are aware of this event and have forwarded the original posts in some cases, to include local antifa groups in the NCR. However, there is no indication of local groups organizing any sort of 1A demonstration or event in the NCR.

Finally, MPD is currently monitoring social media chatter regarding calls for a "national day of action" on March 6th and 8th in reference to the start of former Minneapolis PD Officer Derek Chauvin's criminal trial or the death of George Floyd. However, MPD is not aware of any specific plans for demonstrations in the NCR at this time.

Subject: George Floyd Protests

Good Evening All,

I hate to bother you all so late in the night but I wanted to say thank you all for your diligence in sending out information about protests in D.C. regarding the George Floyd in-custody death in Minneapolis. As I'm sure everyone is aware, the violence is escalating rapidly across the U.S. NYC made over 40 arrests today and had multiple NYPD officers injured from these protests, Minneapolis just had a second police precinct overrun and destroyed, and there was a shooting at a Denver protest. That is only a few of the incidents across the country.

Today we had a small group of about 20 protesters start off at Freedom Plaza and march around the city but they were peaceful. The organizer has posted on social media that they will be back again tomorrow afternoon at 1700 hours at 14th and U Streets NW. I would appreciate it if everyone could keep checking social media for any pop up demonstrations and send them to this group for everyone's awareness. So far we are tracking the following protests coming up within the next few days, courtesy of USPP Sergeant Varanelli:

No, I asked them this morning if they got any additional info but they had not. Don't know if any will show up or if it will be only our usual local misfits.

On Monday, June 1 at 6:28 p.m. outside the White House, multiple police agencies unleashed a violent assault against a peaceful protest demanding justice for George Floyd. People were shot with stinger grenades, rubber bullets, pepper sprayed and gassed so that Trump could hold a photo op holding a bible on the north side of Lafayette Park. This was a criminal assault against the people. The Pentagon and D.C. police acted as Trump's accomplices.

We will fill the streets on Monday, June 15, at 6:28 p.m., exactly two weeks to the minute after Trump ordered the violent assault. Those officials who helped Trump carry out this attack should be fired and criminally prosecuted.

The movement against the murders of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery and so many others is now a nationwide revolt demanding far-reaching reforms.

On Monday, June 15, at 6:28 p.m., we're coming back to the White House to demand that there is a = = > stop to the war on Black America. This is a revolt against racism! We're going to reclaim the streets. We're going to stop the war on free speech and dissent. Join us!

Good Morning [REDACTED]

Regarding the two additional demos for today, do you know where they came from? The Abolish the Police one is an ongoing demo we are aware about. However, we were not aware of the one at Lincoln Park. There is one planned for tomorrow at 1900 hours. Could you check with the source of that information and see if you can get additional information on that one?

Thank you,

Yep, just sent out an email to command staff. We may need to have a SOD cruiser stationed at all Target locations in D.C. for this. Supposed to begin around 1700 hours. I am waiting on the Target regional security manager to send me the info they have on which store(s) in D.C. are being targeted. Who is SOD watch commander for daywork/eves today?

Oh wow, I'm sure. It's only getting worse too. I'm hearing prosecutors in Louisville will be releasing the decision on whether they will be prosecuting the officers in reference to Breonna Taylor shooting this week and rumor is they are declining to prosecute. May make things even busier for us in D.C. Also – we had an Officer Involved Shooting last night:

Last night at approximately 2313 hours, we had an OIS in the 4200 block of Minnesota Avenue NE. An off-duty MPD member was outside the location when a suspect exited a vehicle and attempted to enter the MPD member's vehicle. The victim yelled at the suspect and ran toward his vehicle. The suspect produced a handgun and fired one round at the MPD member which did not take effect. The MPD member returned fire. The suspect re-entered the suspect vehicle, firing a second shot at the member which again did not take effect. The suspect vehicle then fled.

While canvassing for the suspect vehicle, MPD members located a 17 year old male who was suffering from gunshot wounds to the hand and torso at 48th and Blaine Streets NE. The juvenile was transported to the hospital for treatment. Upon further investigation, it was determined the juvenile was the suspect in the OIS. He was placed under arrest for ADW Gun.

We have been monitoring social media for any type of protests stemming from the OIS with negative results so far.

Hi [REDACTED]

Thank you for flagging the alert below. I will route this feedback to my product team for review. At first glance, it looks like the end user is sharing their physical location of Washington DC - which is a key indicator for our AI to pick up on when geo-tagging.

As for the upcoming January 6th event, I will be sure to follow up with my product team to make sure they are tracking on the potential for public safety incidents.. Please keep in mind, we cannot alert on the planning or scheduling of protests or demonstrations. We can alert on public safety concerns relating to these types of events. This is a big part of the terms and conditions we must follow and adhere to with our social media partners and this is also part of the terms and conditions in the contract between DC and Dataminr.

If you have any questions or additional feedback, please let me know.

Thanks so much!

Amy

Hi Amy,

I hope you are having a good weekend. Please see below FirstAlert. This is another bad geocoded event. We believe this took place in Baltimore, MD, but it definitely was not DC.

On a side note, we are seeing a lot of social media chatter about a big January 6th protest in DC. Unfortunately, we discovered it manually before FirstAlert picked it up. Since this event is tied directly to the November 14th and December 12th events that turned violent, any additional filters or triggers you can implement to locate more information on this event would be very helpful. Please let me know if a telephone conversation would be helpful in setting these up.

Thank you,

Good Morning Amy,

I understand completely that you cannot alert on planning or scheduling of First Amendment demonstrations. We are more concerned with the threats of "armed protests" and people planning on bringing firearms to the District of Columbia on January 6th (or the rest of January for that matter).

Thanks again,

Hi [REDACTED],

Thank you for flagging the alert below. I will route this feedback to my product team for review. At first glance, it looks like the end user is sharing their physical location of Washington DC - which is a key indicator for our AI to pick up on when geo-tagging.

As for the upcoming January 6th event, I will be sure to follow up with my product team to make sure they are tracking on the potential for public safety incidents.. Please keep in mind, we cannot alert on the planning or scheduling of protests or demonstrations. We can alert on public safety concerns relating to these types of events. This is a big part of the terms and conditions we must follow and adhere to with our social media partners and this is also part of the terms and conditions in the contract between DC and Dataminr.

If you have any questions or additional feedback, please let me know.

Thanks so much!

Hi Amy,

I hope you are having a good weekend. Please see below FirstAlert. This is another bad geocoded event. We believe this took place in Baltimore, MD, but it definitely was not DC.

On a side note, we are seeing a lot of social media chatter about a big January 6th protest in DC. Unfortunately, we discovered it manually before FirstAlert picked it up. Since this event is tied directly to the November 14th and December 12th events that turned violent, any additional filters or triggers you can implement to locate more information on this event would be very helpful. Please let me know if a telephone conversation would be helpful in setting these up.

Thank you,

Good morning Commander!

CLEAR is a program similar to TLO and Accurint with additional enhanced features (private LPR, real time incarceration data and can do batch runs on a long list of phone numbers instead of searching one by one). The user can set up alerts on vehicles, individuals, phone numbers to receive emails of any changes to its records. There is a useful tool, Web Analytics, where CLEAR searches the internet (including the dark web) on multiple search criteria, including social media names.

We had a trial and had quite a few success stories when using CLEAR:

- CLEAR ran a batch phone record search of [REDACTED] & [REDACTED] phone records. The return provided detectives with the names, addresses and source of the individuals associated with those phone numbers. Through the batch record search, Det. [REDACTED] was able to obtain [REDACTED]'s phone number.
- In the [REDACTED] case, using web analytics, detectives were able to determine additional websites and usernames the decedent was using to meet people.
- In a third homicide case, detectives were given the Instagram page of a possible person of interest. Using CLEAR, detectives were able to ascertain the user's true name.
- While investigating the triple homicide on [REDACTED] a source provided detectives with a phone number of a source, however did not have a true name or address. The phone number was run through CLEAR, TLO and Accurint. Only CLEAR provided the correct information for the witness.

I have also attached some marketing materials for your reference.

Let me know if you need anything additional,

Good evening ACs,

We have received the FY21 purchase order for Clear and Westlaw Services. IAD has been using these services over the years and for FY21, we added 10 additional CLEAR licenses for CID. Thomson Reuters has offered to provide a training session for new users along with a refresher training as well. Please let me know if you have a POC in your office who you would like me to contact/coordinate with.

AC Manlapaz- I have been in touch with Sgt [REDACTED] and I was informed that Agent [REDACTED] will be coming back as a Senior. If nothing has changed, I can move forward with coordinating with them on this effort. We may have to do a review of the existing account users as well.

AC Contee- Once I receive the POC information for CID, I can reach out to him/her to ask who the 10 new licenses should be issued to. I will make sure that the list of names has your approval before I forward the information.

If you have any questions or need any additional information, please let me know.

Thank you both and have a great evening!

THOMSON REUTERS CLEAR® CASE STUDY:

Saunders County Attorney

THOMSON REUTERS®

A criminal investigator uncovers new evidence in a murder case that has remained unsolved for fifty years.

Mary Kay Heese was last seen just after 5:00 p.m. on March 25, 1969, standing at the corner of Fifth and Linden streets in Wahoo, Nebraska, about five blocks from her home. The 17-year-old high school junior was alone. Later that night, her parents reported her as missing.

Early the next morning, a local farmer spotted schoolbooks scattered across a county road about 3.5 miles southeast of town. He notified law enforcement, and a short time later the teen's body was discovered in a roadside ditch. She was fully clothed, except for her shoes, which were found near the body.

In time, investigators determined Mary Kay had been driven out of town and potentially murdered outside city limits. An autopsy revealed a struggle had taken place, and a sharp instrument had been used as the murder weapon. She died of multiple stab wounds to the torso. Investigators gathered evidence and conducted interviews, and citizens called in multiple tips, but the murder weapon was never recovered and no arrests were made.

Fifty years later, the case remained unsolved.

The county attorney asks a criminal investigator to review the case.

The unsolved murder of Mary Kay Heese has cast a dark cloud over Wahoo, Nebraska, a tight-knit community of 3,500, for as long as anyone can remember.

"An unsolved homicide case never closes," says Ted Green, criminal investigator for the county attorney, "so it's always been on people's minds."

When the county attorney asked Green to conduct a top-to-bottom review of the case, he set off across Nebraska to round up the original reports from various state agencies that had worked on the investigation. Before long, he had generated an extensive list of potential witnesses, many of whom now lived out of state.

"It almost seemed impossible at first," he says, "because back in 1969 very few young people had Social Security numbers."

For some witnesses, all he had were maiden names of women who had remarried, often more than once, in the intervening years. And he believed some witnesses had passed away.

Green scoured old high school yearbooks and historical society records in order to learn anything he could about the witnesses. He plugged the bits of information he had into Thomson Reuters CLEAR — sometimes just a name or a nickname, or the name of a parent or sibling, or a vehicle, or a former address or old job.

One by one, he tracked down the current location and contact information for all but three of the witnesses he had identified. CLEAR also revealed some witnesses thought to be deceased were still alive. He even located an individual who was working in a diamond mine in Tanzania, Africa.

"I would never have been able to identify these people without CLEAR," he says. "There is no way."

The investigator uses CLEAR to track the suspect's every move.

Green was making good progress in the case, but there was one hitch. Back in Wahoo, someone had heard the suspect identified in the original investigation had died. As a 25-year veteran of the Omaha police force, Green had been trained to accept nothing as true until he could verify every last detail.

When he ran the suspect's name and Social Security number through CLEAR, he immediately learned that the suspect was still alive and had recently moved. In fact, the suspect had moved about two dozen times since 1986 and had married numerous times, details all contained in the CLEAR report.

Re-interviewing the witnesses helped Green prove that some statements provided in the original investigation were false. Back in 1969, an associate of the suspect used one witness — the high school class valedictorian — as an alibi, claiming he had been out on a date with her the night of the murder. When Green interviewed her 50 years later, she said her parents would never have allowed her to be out on a school night after eight o'clock. In fact, she had never dated the guy. Green discovered the original investigators never actually spoke with her about what the suspect's associate had said.

CLEAR helps to build a strong case against the suspect.

In gathering a paper trail for the trial, Green produced more than a hundred witness interview reports. Six witnesses are prepared to testify at a trial. Green is confident that all four have given statements that will lead to a conviction.

"And they came directly through CLEAR," he says.

Most crucial of all, Green used CLEAR to locate a law enforcement officer who investigated the crime scene in 1969. Green had a name but was unable to find the individual using state resources.

A retired state trooper told Green that the investigator had passed away years ago, but once again Green used CLEAR to verify the information. He learned that two officers with the same last name had served on the state patrol at the time. One had passed away, but the other one — the officer who had investigated the crime scene — was still alive. CLEAR provided Green with the retired officer's phone number, email address, and Social Security number, and Green tracked him to his current residence which is out of state.

"He can testify in court and say, 'Yes, these are my reports. This is the crime scene. This is where the body was,'" says Green. "He'll say, 'Yes, these are the tire prints that we got. These are the shoe prints.'"

Green predicts the retired officer's eyewitness testimony will be pivotal at trial. "And it's because of CLEAR," he says. "It's totally because of CLEAR."

CLEAR is a vital investigative tool for law enforcement agencies.

Providing current identification and the location of individuals is the most important thing CLEAR has done for Green as he builds a case against the suspect.

"I'll bet I make contact with 80% of the individuals I find through CLEAR," he says. "Without CLEAR, it would be below 5%."

For a small-town law enforcement agency that serves a large geographical area, CLEAR is helpful for Green and his team in a number of ways. His office has used CLEAR to resolve outstanding warrants, investigate check fraud, and identify an out-of-state criminal suspect who had spoofed an IP web address.

"We handle all of the criminal prosecution for the whole county, so it makes sense for us to have CLEAR," he says. "I'm not computer savvy, but it's really easy to use."

The information Green collected from CLEAR, combined with the witness testimony, will allow him to forward the unsolved murder case, along with a current witness list, to the Nebraska Attorney General for possible future prosecution.

"Without CLEAR, this case would have gone nowhere," he says. "I can honestly say that."

How CLEAR® Helped Track Down a Fugitive Who Owed $63,000 in Unpaid Child Support

One reason Thomson Reuters CLEAR investigative software is so useful is that it pulls together disparate pieces of information about an individual – from financial records, court documents, vehicle registration, property records, utility payments, and other databases – to help investigators identify and locate people. It's not uncommon for users to make connections using CLEAR that would not otherwise be possible. Then again, sometimes the user finishes the investigative puzzle; CLEAR just provides the missing pieces.

For example, many states have departments and officers who are responsible for locating the parents of children who have been abandoned, whose paternity needs to be confirmed, or whose child-support payments are delinquent. In instances of child-support delinquency, when the amount in arrears is over $10,000, the offense is officially a felony. And when the delinquent parent is in another state, federal agents are often called upon to help locate the individual.

CONNECTING THE DOTS

In one recent case, a noncustodial parent in the upper Midwest owed $63,000 in back child support.

Federal investigators had determined that the man was living in another state, and had traveled there to apprehend him. But when they arrived at the address where they thought he was staying, the man was nowhere to be found. Frustrated, the agents called a parent-location official from the originating state to find out if there was any other information available that might help them locate the parent.

"Time was of the essence. They had to find him, but they didn't know where to look," recalled the parent-location officer who took the call.

An experienced CLEAR user, the officer ran a comprehensive report and scanned the results for possible clues to the parent's whereabouts. With the clock ticking and impatient feds waiting on the line, she searched for something – anything – that might lead investigators in the right direction.

Nothing jumped out at first, but then the officer noticed something strange.

"I noticed in one of the reports that the man had an adult son who lived in the same town," she says. "And vehicle-registration records indicated that the son owned a distinctive yellow truck with an even more distinctive set of personalized license plates."

Over the phone, the officer read the information about the truck and its registration address directly from CLEAR to the investigators in the field. While she stayed on the line, she listened as federal agents for the Office of the Inspector General pulled up to the son's house, identified his truck, and knocked on the door. The tip paid off: The man they were looking for was inside the son's house. The agents promptly arrested him and brought him back to the originating state, where he was prosecuted for "gross child neglect."

"That was a big win for us," the parent-location officer explains. "We didn't get the $63,000 all at once, but we did get it."

"Time was of the essence. They had to find him, but they didn't know where to look."

CLEAR PROVIDES LEADS, CLUES

For the parent-location officers in this particular state, most child-support reclamations amount to a few thousand dollars. But with close to 2,000 open cases at any one time, and only three officers investigating them, CLEAR has become an essential tool for them. "Without it, especially those comprehensive reports, there's no way we'd be able to round up all that information," she insists. With CLEAR, her office is able to close 20 to 30 cases a month. Not all of them involve financial remuneration, but many do, and for the families that need and deserve that money, CLEAR's capabilities are a necessity.

"Address information is the key for us," the officer explains. "Once we get a verifiable address, we pass it on to the child-custody unit, and they take it from there." Dashboard alerts related to financial activity and arrest and incarceration data are also useful, and in cases where paternity must be established, models of personal records and various social and business interactions can provide leads.

For this officer of the state, CLEAR provides both the tools and peace of mind she needs to do her job effectively.

Locating people who do not want to be found can be extremely difficult, however. Since 2009, her office has been tracking a woman who is constantly on the move, and who, to date, has recorded 10 different aliases. "Every time we think we've got a bead on her, she disappears again," the officer says. CLEAR provides dashboard alerts any time one of the woman's aliases registers activity, but she has yet to be taken into custody.

Such cases are the exception, however. More often than not, her office uses CLEAR on a daily basis to track down parents who have skipped out on their responsibilities, or to reunite kids caught in the social-service system with their parents. Sometimes, children in the system don't even know who their parents are, or if they are alive – and vice versa. CLEAR helps investigators identify and locate these estranged parties so that law-enforcement personnel can take the next appropriate steps, whatever they may be.

Though her office utilizes other investigative tools, such as Accurint, "CLEAR is the one we use most," she insists. Not only is CLEAR more cost-effective, she says, "the comprehensive reports in CLEAR give us more information, and the interface is more user-friendly." Also, because she has hundreds of open cases to investigate at any given time, CLEAR helps her manage a higher volume of cases. "The alerts we are able to set up on specific individuals are a great help because with our caseloads we have a hard time checking on those hard-to-find individuals as much as we would like." With CLEAR operating in the background, she can turn her attention to other cases, confident in the knowledge that nothing will slip through the cracks.

For this officer of the state, CLEAR provides both the tools and peace of mind she needs to do her job effectively. Without it, the gears of justice would grind a little slower, she says, and in some cases might just grind to a halt.

Thomson Reuters CLEAR® Case Study: Richland County Sheriff's Department

CLEAR investigation software helps to recover musical equipment stolen from a church youth group.

When a musician in Columbia, South Carolina, called the Richland County Sheriff's Department to report that someone had broken into his car and stolen all of his musical equipment, Special Deputy Ramona York feared they would never be able to recover the items. The young man had no serial numbers for the equipment, and it's almost impossible to find stolen property without serial numbers. He didn't have insurance for the items, either. Altogether, he had lost more than 30 pieces of musical instruments and gear worth around $15,000—equipment he used for his church youth group.

Despite the long odds, Special Deputy York felt it was her mission to get these items back to the young man.

The investigation to locate the stolen property begins.

York started her investigation immediately by searching for the musical equipment in pawnshops using the LeadsOnline website. LeadsOnline stores information from pawnshop businesses and drop off ATMs throughout the US; this information is used by law enforcement agencies. Whenever reported stolen items are investigated, only items with serial numbers can be entered into the National Crime Information Center (NCIC), however, the victim wasn't able to provide the serial numbers for his items. York searched for certain usual brands and items, such as Fender amplifiers, Boss, Shure, and Digitech Effect Pedals and during her search, she started to notice a trend. One particular name continued to show up for pawning these certain usual items. At that point, York reversed her search and was able to locate all pawns by this individual. Reviewing the same morning of the incident, she located a list of pawned items. Every item that had been stolen from the victim's vehicle was on this pawn list – except one left-handed guitar.

Using the name of this individual, York did a reverse search in the pawn shop database and found several pages of items he had pawned in the last day, including almost all of the musical equipment the victim had reported stolen. She felt confident she had identified a person of interest related to the stolen property.

CLEAR provides critical information that helps solve the case.

Special Deputy York ran the name through Thomson Reuters CLEAR and immediately learned that the suspect lived in Washington, DC. CLEAR provided his current and former addresses, along with the addresses of relatives in Columbia, South Carolina. She noted that one relative, a brother, lived near the location where the musical equipment had been stolen.

Digging deeper, she discovered that the suspect had a criminal record and traveled frequently to Columbia to visit his brother and other family members. Over time, he had pawned a wide range of items in North Carolina and South Carolina including laptop computers in a single week. The pawnshop was located directly between Columbia and Washington, DC.

With the help of CLEAR, Special Deputy York was able to develop a more detailed picture of the suspect. CLEAR helped expand her view to a national level. Without CLEAR it would have taken much longer for her to track down key details and make the connections that helped her take the next step in quickly solving the case.

... CLEAR helped expand her view to a national level. Without CLEAR it would have taken much longer for her to track down key details ...

CLEAR made Special Deputy York's job easier. "It gave me the answer right there, right that instant," she says.

The solution also provided the information the Richland County Sheriff's Department needed to issue a warrant. "In order for a judge to sign a warrant," says York, "you have to have probable cause."

In this case, probable cause amounted to finding the stolen property and determining that the suspect had known associates in Columbia, along with a history of pawning items while traveling to and from the area. Identifying those connections was the most important thing CLEAR did for the Richland County Sheriff's Department.

With the help of CLEAR, the stolen property was recovered.

The Richland County Sheriff's Department contacted the pawnshop in North Carolina and put a hold on the stolen property. An investigator drove to North Carolina, recovered the musical instruments and gear, and returned everything to the victim the next day. The only item that was never found was the left-handed guitar.

In addition, the department uses CLEAR every day, in a wide range of cases, including tracking down phone numbers and staying up to date on recent arrests.

"CLEAR is as easy to use as any other database," says York, "especially when you're in a hurry in an investigation and need answers quickly."

Ready to make a change?

For analysts and investigators who need to quickly locate, identify, and connect critical facts, Thomson Reuters CLEAR is powered by billions of data points and leverages cutting-edge public records technology to bring all key content together in a customizable dashboard, allowing you to search data and view results in a layout that complements your workflow.

Unlike other public record platforms, all levels of government agencies trust CLEAR to provide robust, real-time data that closes gaps in investigations and gives you an edge over traditional information delays.

Hello Lt. Parker,

By means of introduction, I am the Account Manager for the Metropolitan Police Department's Accurint accounts. I understand you met with Nicole and my colleagues at the FBI NAA Conference in Arizona. I hope you enjoyed the conference. I was there last year in Canada and thought it was a well-run event.

I wanted to make sure you have my contact should you need anything from us. I have also included some information about our SIU who is available as part of the support we provide our law enforcement customers. I am also including some information on the Accurint Virtua Crime Center which includes additional Law Enforcement data. There are several agencies utilizing AVCC in the DC area including next door at Montgomery County.

Please let me know if I can be of assistance. I am not local to DC now, but originally from the DC/MD area and there frequently. I will reach out next time I will be visiting MPD should you have time for me to introduce myself.

Thanks,
Katherine

Good afternoon,
I don't believe I had the newest price proposals as Behyar and Marty were taking lead from the IT side. However, the first time they gave us a proposal (back in 2017 or so), the licenses were $30,000 each. At that time, we had put in a request for 3 licenses, which was not approved due to the pricing. While the product is great, I think it's extremely pricy. I'd like to see how other agencies are using it before we invest in it.

Best,
Carolyn

There will be a roughly 20-25 users to start with. Obviously some power users, but will leave for you to determine how many of each, based on your experience.

For the gang unit, they will probably do a 1000 initial collections and then several a week.

For the other units we are estimating approximately 50 collections a week or 200 collections a month.

Behyar,

I will be happy to provide you what you need.....How many analysts all together will be using the system across different investigative units? I can estimate the ratio between "Power users" and "analysts" but it will be helpful to see what population I am looking at. Furthermore, do you have a feel for how many collections per month (to start with) you are considering?

It would be best to "ramp up" into the collection and analysis based on our experience and do the "change management", one department (or group) at a time to get people (analysts) on board. The typical group to start is probably the group with the highest number of cases that need to be solved quickly (e.g. criminal investigations perhaps, or gang violence group).....I don't know if all the investigators are lumped into one group or each group will have their own budget and investigators.....That is why I suggested to have a discovery day and discuss all the relevant issues.

Do you think we can have a conference call sometimes tomorrow around noon time to get a lay of the land as far as roll-out plans, number of analysts, etc. is concerned so we can hit your target estimates better? If you don't think you can assemble that level of granularity, that is fine, and we can work around it by just providing some pricing based on collection volume and let you figure out how to land on a number that makes sense.

What I want to avoid is to "pigeon hole" the pricing based on just assumptions but that will give you some ROM estimates if that is what you are driving toward. Please advise.

Commander Ennis,

We are going to be back in town this week and plan to work with the users on the social media monitoring. We also want to work with the individuals that work with the shot spotter to implement the use of SMM in real time. Per our discussion the social media monitoring will be extended this month and then thru September. I will send you the new invoice each month like I have done for you to process on your end. Let me know if you have any concerns or questions.

In regards to the bundled plan I outlined to you back in April the pricing was based upon your existing Accurint business and adding the SMM component. As we move forward we will be able to put the SMM users in an account that will only have access to SMM or if a user has an existing Id we will be able to allow just that user to both. This will ensure that the billing is kept straight and matches the PO.

I am very excited about working with the users and helping them get the most out of our complete solution and combined Accurint with SMM. I know Misty is working smart to help each user gain information to meet your department and organizations strategy. In regards to the bundled solution the mobile access with the unlimited number of users will be managed as its own group. All training and support will be the same for this group just like the others. It is part of the program so the extent to which you use this is based upon your objectives.

A few points I want to make about the proposed bundled solution pricing:

- The additional user we added to your existing Accurint Law Enforcement plus account was at no additional cost
- The unlimited mobile users was added at no additional cost
- The batch scrub was added at no additional cost

By adding on the Social Media Monitoring to your existing account I was able to provide the additional access. It is a very exciting program and one I look forward to helping you manage. Every time I am at the department I come away with more ideas on how to help you with your investigations and I can't wait to come back. The complete access is pretty complete from a department standpoint. Listed below is the breakdown of the access and how it could be managed in the fall. Obviously this can be changed and I will work with you to put the right people in place.

Existing Accurint account – managed by [REDACTED]
Social Media Monitoring – Managed by [REDACTED]
Accurint Mobile – Managed by ? ( Patrol? Warrants? )

I would like to put the agreement together and send to you for the September 1 start date. I just want to be sure we get everything in place and all the billing set to ensure everything goes smoothly. Let me now if that is OK? I know it is a little early but with summer and the process you follow I think it would be best.

Also how did your conversation go with finance person we discussed? Hope to see you this week.

Subject: LexisNexis Accurint - SMM Proposal

Commander Ennis,

I wanted to get this to you for our meeting this morning.

Thank you for the opportunity to work with your staff on the 24th and 25th of March. We feel it was a very productive session and are confident the 20 users of the trial will gain important Intel using the LexisNexis Social media monitoring solution. We are working with Officer [REDACTED] to ensure that the social media collections are being set up in a way that will allow your department to group certain collections. This is the best way to keep collections confidential. A follow up training session has been set to ensure the users gain a deeper understanding of how to get the most out of the solution, along with answering questions.

As we move forward, the users will have access to a training consultant for unlimited one on one training sessions, and access to our customer service 24/7. As we continue to work together I wanted to lay out a program that meets the needs of the entire department. Based on our conversation on the 25th, we would like you to review the following proposal. This proposal takes into account your existing program with LexisNexis which consists of Accurint LE Plus, with access for 35 users. Your current financial commitment with LexisNexis is $39,348 year/$3,279 per month. Your current fees will be rolled into the program we have outlined below, and will not be an additional cost. Users will maintain the same access.

Listed below is the proposal we believe meets all the needs of DC Metro PD. Implementation to begin May 1, 2014.

- LexisNexis LE Plus – 50 users ( we want to increase the user access to accommodate the Social Media Monitoring Access).
- LexisNexis Accurint – Social Media Monitoring – 1 Million Events – 1000 Objects ( each month )
- LexisNexis Identity Scrub/Batch – 250 records
- LexisNexis Accurint – Mobile Access – Unlimited users

Accurint Mobile Access -only

People – Person Search – First, Last, Middle, SSN#, Street, City, State, Zip, DOB

Phones – Phone Search – Phone, First, Last, Middle Street ,City, State, Zip, SSN

Vehicle – Vehicle Search – SSN, First , Last, Middle Street, City, State Zip, VIN, Plate/Tag, License Number

Property – Property Search – First, Last, Middle, Parcel Number, Company Name, Street, City, State, Zip, County

Business – Business Search – Company Name, First, Last, Middle, SSN# Street , City, State, Zip, FEIN
ID Verification – Information verification along with 5 question Quiz to verify identity

Total Cost - $82,150 year/$6,845 per month.

We have worked to design a program that takes into account not just the needs of the current users but the social media monitoring users along with the patrol or boots on the street folks. We have seen everyone working together and want to continue this momentum in the department.

Look forward to talking to you this morning to review and answer any questions you have.

Hi [REDACTED],

I apologize for the delayed response, I have been out on the road today. Unfortunately Geofeedia does not currently have the capability to track craigslist - as the software is entirely "social media" tracking, we do not have craigslist as a source. I do remember one of the individuals in my original demo to Washington Metro explaining that this is a big problem in your jurisdiction.

Did you receive the documents I sent over?

Please let me know how else I can help.

Hi [REDACTED],

I've attached sole source documentation and a revised quote which includes a 2-year option. Let me know if you think the 3-year option is the way you would want to go, I would need to run that one by my CEO.

When you have a moment, could you send over information in regards to registering as a vendor in the District of Columbia?

Thanks again for your help here.

Good morning Commander Ennis,
Thanks again for letting us show you CLEAR and we look forward to starting your trial access.

I just wanted to follow up with you on 2 items:

1-Can you give me the status of the paperwork completion for setting up the trial access to CLEAR Investigator? Is there someone there you would like me to connect with on this?

2-In addition to our CLEAR Investigator application we have a NEW Social Media Threat Detection Tool that leverages our robust public records, news, and open source information. –I have attached some general information on it for your review. You really need to see this new powerful tool. I am sure you will agree that it is much better than our competition's new social media tool that you have been trialing. Can we set up a time to give you a demonstration?

We look forward to your experiencing why CLEAR is a superior service to your current provider! I hope to hear from you soon. Thanks.

Commander Ennis,
As we discussed yesterday, attached is some information on the CLEAR Batch Alerting services and also on Tetra for your review.

Tetra is an easy to use, aggregation software that enables you to effectively and efficiently gather data from across multiple data sources, whether internal or external, and deliver the results in a readable format.

The power and flexibility of Tetra can greatly enhance your social media investigative efforts. Also, as we discussed, Tetra can bolt on to any system out there.

I would like to suggest that we set up a meeting to discuss Tetra in greater detail. I can bring out one of the Tetra product specialist and give you a better feel for all that you can accomplish with Tetra. I know you will be impressed.

I recall your mentioning that we could possibly join one of your scheduled meetings (on Thursdays)?

Thanks again for your time and we look forward to exploring all the ways the DC MPD can benefit from the power of Tetra.

Background

Preventing or reducing damage and loss from “bad actors,” whether they are trusted employees, external adversaries, or disruptive events, is of critical importance to Government and Commercial organizations. Identifying early threat indicators is essential for the Intelligence Community and Law Enforcement to reduce their risks and exposure. Historically, the volume of data, rate of change, and limited resources have made it nearly impossible to effectively detect and mitigate threats in real time. This trend towards deriving actionable intelligence from the world of big, real-time data can now be simplified using advancements in commercial data processing and technology. By leveraging Thomson Reuters Special Services’ (TRSS) access to proprietary data sets combined with cutting edge analytics, we increase accuracy, reduce risk, and lower cost and resource expenditures.

Company Information

Thomson Reuters is the world’s leading source of intelligent information for businesses and professionals. Thomson Reuters’ offerings combine industry content and expertise with innovative technology to deliver critical decision making information to business leaders around the world. Thomson Reuters’ products and services are integral to major global industries including: financial, legal, scientific, healthcare, and media.

Established in 2008, Thomson Reuters Special Services, LLC (TRSS) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of TR and is U.S. based and independently operated. TRSS delivers a comprehensive suite of solutions designed to help professionals achieve mission objectives, address uncertainty, and identify and manage risk. TRSS leverages Thomson Reuters’ market-leading solutions to help our clients perform intelligence collection/analysis, cybersecurity, counter threat finance, insider threat, and risk management.

Threat Intelligence Portfolio Introduction

THE TRSS SOLUTION

TRSS delivers a comprehensive portfolio of Threat Intelligence Solutions that help our clients with strategic initiatives focused on Threat Analysis.

Taking advantage of Thomson Reuters’ expertise in automated data processing and machine learning models for real time analysis, TRSS has developed solutions to support intelligence and law enforcement missions. These solutions streamline the process of detecting harmful threats around events, facilities and individuals.

Service Highlights and Data Analytics

TRSS Threat Intelligence Solutions go beyond simple collection of social media and open source data. TRSS has created a novel approach to the filtering and prioritizing of data presented for analysis. TRSS uses statistical modeling and machine learning techniques to model specific behavioral and contextual concepts to score dynamic text, from sources like social media, to filter and rank data for the analysts in a way that helps analysts prioritize the most important information related to the modeled concepts.

Threat Analysis

Through an automated, continuous process, the Threat Analysis service has been built to collect massive amounts of social media and open source data in real-time to collect results matching the query terms. Once the data has been collected, the system will evaluate and score the data for potential threats.

Features include:

- Targeted real-time data collection for geo-location, keywords, phrases, and entities
- Data evaluation and threat scoring
- Heat map display of results based on geo-code data and threat score
- Topic discovery
- Collection of user metadata

The process for producing a threat score is to inspect the text based on linguistic features corresponding to psychological and sociological behaviors associated with making and carrying out threats.

In addition to the threat scoring model, sentiment analysis is performed on several languages. Sentiment analysis delivers a measure of the positive or negative sentiment in a post.

Data Delivery Capabilities

TRSS Threat Intelligence Solutions can be delivered to clients through a number of different platforms dependent upon client capabilities and requirements.

Standard deliverables include raw data, direct data feeds, and/or finished intelligence reports provided by trained TRSS analysts. Deliverables can be customized to meet client requirements and complement current programs.

Customization

Based on client needs, custom scoring models can be generated.

Good morning Commander Ennis,
Kristine, Barrett, and I enjoyed meeting you and Amanda yesterday and we want to thank you for your time to discuss Thomson Reuters' CLEAR Investigative database, batch services, and integrated solutions.

It was good to learn of your needs at the District of Columbia Police Department and discuss how CLEAR can support your work by saving you time, improving your workflow, and quickly providing the critical answers you need.

I know the social media is a key interest and the trial access to CLEAR with Web Analytics will give you a better feel for all that is included in CLEAR. In a separate email I will forward over some information on our batch alerting services and also on Tetra. I look forward to exploring how the flexibility and power of Tetra can benefit the DC MPD and enhance your workflow.

As we discussed, I have put together the trial paperwork to get the ball rolling on the 2 weeks of trial access to CLEAR with Web Analytics.—see attached. I am happy to walk through the forms with any of your people to aid with completion. Once you have completed the forms simply email them back to me and we will have your access set up within a few days. We will then schedule a convenient time for a kickoff training session for your users to begin the trial access.

We look forward to your getting a chance to see why so many police departments and agencies have chosen CLEAR as their preferred investigative tool. Please call or email me with any questions. Thanks.

Best Regards,

Subject: Webinar: May 8th 2014 - 4pm -4.30pm GMT

Hi Cathy,

I hope you are well? You may recall speaking with me previously regarding the presentation we invited you to on 13th March in Washington.

I understand that you probably have a very hectic schedule which is one of the reasons we decided to host a number of webinar the next being on May 8th at 11.30am (your time).

I feel that it would be extremely beneficial for either yourself or Barry to register and attend this Webinar, we will be showing once again our SMC4 Observer tool. We will cover off the benefits of this tool and the importance of having such technology in place to:

- Reduce the risks to departments of the misuse of social media, compromising of criminal cases, department exposure to civil and criminal liability.
- Manage the outward and inward communications in a streamlined and speedy manner to best serve the communities you protect.
- Provide the department with a tool which is secure/cost effective/requires minimal training and consultancy.
- Provide the department with a tool which you can store/retrieve/retain/archive social media communications - to the advantage and benefit of investigators who are using social media.

SMC4 Observer automates processes which inevitably relieves the demand for dedicated resource within your department, our tool will provide your department with 'real time' reports and statistics regarding criminal risk and builds a legal archive of information supporting you in criminal proceedings and legal action.

Polk County are currently using our tool to monitor the social media activity across 100,000 children in an effort to stamp out 'Cyber Bullying' as children being constantly abused were killing themselves.

Please also take a look at the attached case study for Regina Police, who also use SMC4 its 'content analytics' ensures that no profanities appear on the police social media pages amongst other things read more here => (See attached file: Regina Police Service - 7.3.2014.pdf)

Our technology is built on IBM FileNet engine and as such is robust and secure and most importantly of all has been tested and approved by other governed agencies.

Please, allow us the opportunity to educate you further on this fantastic solution (30 mins) of your time to ensure that you are then able to make an informed decision regarding ongoing interactions with our organisation.

If you are not available on the 8th May then I would be happy to schedule in a 10-15 minute call with you to explain everything in more detail and how we would like to work with you.

I look forward to hearing back from you soon,

Best Regards

- The estimated cost of the donation
- A brief description of the donation and how it will benefit MPD.

Once I get this information I can start the process. This process takes about a week so the sooner I get this information the better.

Individuals from the Intelligence Branch are currently under a free 30 day trial with LexisNexis Accurint Social Media Monitoring. It is to my understanding from LexisNexis that once the 30 days has expired, CIB's access to anything other than the Social Media Monitoring tab will no longer be accessible or operable under our accounts.

Also, after the 30 days trial, we will present to the Command Staff our ability to utilize this tool. At that point, they will make the decision to proceed with purchasing or continue to research for other options for vetting social media.

Good morning Ms. [REDACTED],

I noticed that there has been an increase of users with Accurant which I was unaware of having additional licenses/accounts being made available. I would like to if the department is still paying for the additional fees for the sex offender registry which was once used by Detective Barry Fine. Please let me know the total count of accounts that we have in use. I see that presently we are reflecting 52 users (to include 2 for myself) between two accounts. The last count that I showed in use were for 31 users. Thanks.

Dear Chief Lanier,

It was great to see you again yesterday! Thank you so much for allowing us a few minutes to show your Command Staff our Social Media Monitoring solution. Our local team will be working with your folks to get a trial in place soon.

At the end of the meeting, I briefly mentioned LexisNexis' close partnership with Frank Abagnale – famous identity fraudster years ago – and the “real” character, who was portrayed by Leonardo DiCaprio in the movie “Catch Me If You Can.” Fast-forward to the present, Mr. Abagnale has been associated with the FBI for over 35 years, and he is one of the world’s most respected authorities on fraud and its prevention.

On March 27th (exact time/place TBD), Mr. Abagnale has agreed to host a high level round-table discussion – covering a number of topics related to identity fraud, forgery, embezzlement, and other security issues. I will keep you informed on the specifics and would love for you to come as one of my special guests.

I will be in touch as we have more details worked out. Look forward to your joining us, if you can!

Hi Cathy,

I hope you are well? You may recall speaking with me previously regarding the presentation we invited you to on 13th March in Washington.

I understand that you probably have a very hectic schedule which is one of the reasons we decided to host a number of Webinar the next being on May 8th at 11.30am (your time).

I feel that it would be extremely beneficial for either yourself or Barry to register and attend this Webinar, we will be showing once again our SMC4 Observer tool. We will cover off the benefits of this tool and the importance of having such technology in place to:

- Reduce the risks to departments of the misuse of social media, compromising of criminal cases, department exposure to civil and criminal liability.

- Manage the outward and inward communications in a streamlined and speedy manner to best serve the communities you protect.

- Provide the department with a tool which is secure/cost effective/requires minimal training and consultancy.

- Provide the department with a tool which you can store/retrieve/retain/archive social media communications - to the advantage and benefit of investigators who are using social media.

SMC4 Observer automates processes which inevitably relieves the demand for dedicated resource within your department, our tool will provide your department with 'real time' reports and statistics regarding criminal risk and builds a legal archive of information supporting you in criminal proceedings and legal action.

Polk County are currently using our tool to monitor the social media activity across 100,000 children in an effort to stamp out 'Cyber Bullying' as children being constantly abused were killing themselves.

Please also take a look at the attached case study for Regina Police, who also use SMC4 its 'content analytics' ensures that no profanities appear on the police social media pages amongst other things read more here => (See attached file: Regina Police Service - 7.3.2014.pdf)

Our technology is built on IBM FileNet engine and as such is robust and secure and most importantly of all has been tested and approved by other governed agencies.

Please, allow us the opportunity to educate you further on this fantastic solution (30 mins) of your time to ensure that you are then able to make an informed decision regarding ongoing interactions with our organisation.

If you are not available on the 8th May then I would be happy to schedule in a 10-15 minute call with you to explain everything in more detail and how we would like to work with you.

I look forward to hearing back from you soon,

Best Regards

Individuals from the Intelligence Branch are currently under a free 30 day trial with LexisNexis Accurint Social Media Monitoring. It is to my understanding from LexisNexis that once the 30 days has expired, CIB's access to anything other than the Social Media Monitoring tab will no longer be accessible or operable under our accounts.

Also, after the 30 days trial, we will present to the Command Staff our ability to utilize this tool. At that point, they will make the decision to proceed with purchasing or continue to research for other options for vetting social media.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Chief Operating Officer

THRU: Assistant Chief of Police
Homeland Security Bureau

THRU: Commander
Technical Services Division

FROM: Director Lee APPROVA
Joint Strategic and Tactical Analysis Command Center

DATE: December 22, 2016

SUBJECT: Social Media Analysis Tool (Voyager Analytics) Test Request

1. The Criminal Research Specialists (CRS) assigned to the Investigative Support Unit (ISU) and MPD personnel assigned to the Criminal Intelligence Branch (CIB) currently have no automated method of searching social media for relevant information to persons that are subjects of MPD criminal investigations, nor do they have a method of conducting that search from non-attributable platforms; furthermore, all "network analysis" conducted by the CRS or CIB are done manually, resulting in a very-labor intensive process that does not have the capabilities of relying on automated, big-data analytics.
2. Voyager Analytics Social Media Collection and Analysis Software offers an automated solution to this problem along with integrated analytics to conduct network analysis and provide in-depth information from over six social media platforms from non-attributable proxy servers. This is primarily an investigative tool that can directly support the missions of the CRS, CIB and MPD personnel assigned to the JTTF. This is not an alerting or aggregation tool (such as Dataminr or Sprinklr) and has distinctly different capabilities. Additionally, Voyager offers its "Genesis" tool that "efficiently reads and parses PDF files received from social media platform providers in response to a search warrant or subpoena" which then allows the results to be analyzed quickly and efficiently using Voyager's proprietary analytic suite, significantly simplifying the investigative process and reducing the manpower burden following receipt of massive amounts of data received in response to these court orders.
3. Voyager Analytics is a web-based tool that requires no software installation on MPD systems, nor any access to MPD data. Furthermore, as it only collects data in the public domain from proxy servers, it does not depend on social media

- providers such as Twitter, etc., granting access to their data, and thus is not subject to having its services available at the whim of the social media providers.
4. Voyager has been previously tested by the Intelligence Division and found to exceed the capabilities of all other social media investigative tools they had tried. However, prior to recommending departmental purchase, due to the similarity of mission, a second trial is requested to see if this tool will also benefit the CRS personnel assigned to the ISU and CIC. Voyager Analytics has offered MPD a two-week trial period during the period of the Presidential Inauguration to see if the tool will meet our needs. Additionally, CIB has not had the opportunity to try the Genesis tool, which will also be offered for trial during this period. This test period will also help determine the appropriate number of licenses and necessary data packages should it meet MPD's needs and a purchase decision is made.
  5. If approved for a trial period with MPD, its usage will be covered by existing social media policies or the previously submitted draft social media policy and will be reviewed by the MPD privacy officer prior to beginning the test.
  6. If approved for test, a "donation agreement" will be completed separately with Voyager covering the proposed trial period from 9-23 January 2017.
  7. Expected performance outcomes and measures for the test period are:
    - a. Expected Outcomes:
      - i. Validation of the Voyager tool as an effective investigation tool for Intelligence and CRS personnel.
      - ii. Validation of Voyager's Genesis tool as an effective means of sorting and analyzing social media search warrant/court order returns
    - b. Performance Measures:
      - i. Voyager provides investigative leads in 75% of the use cases attempted that would have been previously unavailable with existing MPD systems and software tools.
      - ii. Genesis reduces the time necessary to process social media returns from a court order by an average of 50% over existing processes.
  8. I strongly recommend approval of this free trial and I am happy to facilitate a meeting with Voyager Analytics personnel if additional information is desired.

Respectfully,

LEE T. WIGHT, Director, Joint
Strategic and Tactical Analysis
Command Center

Voyager Analytics- Capabilities Statement Dec 2016.pdf

Hi Tip,

Thanks so very much for letting me come spend time with several from your department yesterday to talk about Voyager's social media intelligence software. I'm so glad the Commander was impressed and that [REDACTED] team has a need for the kind of information our system provides so quickly and efficiently.

As a first step, I said I would follow up with a write up of technical specifications. Attached you will find a PDF that looks somewhat similar to yesterdays' PPT, as well as a 2 page overview if that format is preferred.

As a second step, we need to start the process of getting the 2-week trial set up for early January. You mentioned a "donations" document I need to prepare? Can you send that along? Also, I don't have [REDACTED] email address as it wasn't on the list you had on yesterdays' invite. Would you like to connect us so that we can talk about the schedule for the trial?

Thanks again, talk to you soon!

The following material contains Voyager Labs' confidential and proprietary information. No part of this document may be disclosed, reproduced, distributed, published or disseminated in any form, or by any means, without written permission from Voyager Labs.

Anonymized Collection and Analysis

- Voyager allows for non-attributable collection and analysis of publicly-available social media data across six social media platforms: Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Google+, Tumblr, and VK.
- Profiles and Topic queries are run from web-based Voyager platform where deep analysis of posts, connections and behavior patterns can be performed anonymously without requiring investigators to use manual methods for infiltrating a target's network to gain insights about their social media presence.

Topology of Social Connections

- Voyager's visualization engine displays a profile's network of connections (ie. Facebook "Friends", Twitter "Followers") in Topologies.
- Each clickable Node in a Topology represents a connection, whose publicly available information is also collected and analyzed within Voyager
- Topologies can be searched by keywords, filtered by various factors such as strength of relationship to the target or location, and exported into .csv file for integration with other analytics platforms.
- Voyager automatically identifies Ghosts, Mediators, Top Connections and Previously Identified profiles within each Topology with color-coded Nodes.

Lexicon Searches

- Lexicon searches can be used to search a Topology for multiple words, phrases, or names at once.
- Users can build their own Lexicon search strings, such as the one shown at right.
- Applying the Lexicon search function, a profile's connections can be filtered for more targeted analysis of connections and their content relevant to an investigation.

Group Content Analysis

- By combining the posts of multiple individuals into list, Voyager is able to analyze, search and filter the content of profiles of the group.
- Group post content can also be searched using the Lexicons search strings and manipulated by several analysis functions such as the impact algorithm, or the location, media, and date range of the post.

Exportable Profile Spotlight & Friendship Reports

- Profile Spotlight Reports are customizable and exportable in PDF form for viewing outside the Voyager platform
- Friendship Reports are exportable as for any two profiles collected within the Voyager platform. The list of mutual connections is dynamic and the link(s) to the posts showing interactions between the two targets are live. Additional information included in this report, such as interaction histories.

Voyager Friendship Report

The screenshot displays a comparison of two social media profiles: Darrius Taylor and Polaris Monae Winston. The report is divided into several sections:

- Profile Headers: Shows the names and profile pictures of Darrius Taylor and Polaris Monae Winston.
- Friendship History: A section titled "Friendship History" with a sub-header "Facebook Shared since September 1st, 2013".
- Total number of interactions: A section titled "Total number of interactions" with a sub-header "Darrius Taylor and Polaris Monae Winston had a total of 2 recorded interactions between September 1st, 2013 to December 31st, 2013".
- Mutual Connections: A section titled "Mutual Connections: 91" listing several mutual friends: Libra West, Coco Pop, Yoda W Koolhae, Oshes Knox, and Paddy O'Neil.
- Mutual Interactions: A table titled "Mutual Interactions" with columns for "Link" and "Date". It shows one interaction: "View original post" on "12/02/2013".

Topic Queries

- Voyager users can run topic queries searching all 6 social media networks, (and additional networks such as YouTube, Pinterest, Medium, and Vimeo) for posts that include the user's keywords or hashtags of choice. These queries can be specified for a certain geolocation or time period.
- Collected topic-related data can be sorted by date, type of content, or impact score (which is a measure of how many people interacted with a given post).
- The impact score metric can be used to determine Top Influencers on the topic, displaying information along with the most prolific posters and the most commonly mentioned associated keywords.

Building a Database of Persons of Interest

- Once a target profile has been collected, the data is retained for the life of the Voyager system. As users collect and analyze profiles of interest, tagging Persons of Interests with notes, Voyager will automatically identify these Persons of Interests in each newly-displayed Topology.
- Revealing connections to networks previously unrealized, over time, Voyager users build a robust database of Persons of Interest (displayed as orange nodes in Topology at right)

Voyager Analytics Social Media Collection and Analysis Software: Capabilities Statement

Voyager Analytics' has developed an innovative, disruptive and proprietary solution for integrating next generation open-source, social media analytics into existing investigation and intelligence operations. Voyager is currently employed with law enforcement, security & criminal intelligence agencies offering unique capabilities to improve mission-critical outcomes:

- Non-attributed, near-real-time collection of publicly-available information from 6+ social media networks and beyond; Voyager's tool utilizes proprietary multi-mode data collection proven to be non-attributable by even the most sophisticated adversary.
- Advanced data visualization & user-friendly analysis capabilities for deep investigation of people and groups. Improving both efficiency and effectiveness of investigation operations.

Voyager provides critical insights into target affiliations, associations, contacts, and motivations. The system's most important features and capabilities include:

- 1) Anonymized, near-real-time collection in nearly any language. Voyager Analytics' capability can anonymously collect, analyze, and archive the social media presence and activities of users of several social media networks, with capability to collect, analyze, and database social media presence, activities and postings in a total of 103 foreign languages. Principal networks covered are Facebook, Twitter, Tumblr, Google+, Instagram, and VKontakte.
- 2) Unprecedented speed and accuracy of actionable insights derived from mass, unstructured data. In minutes or hours, we collect and analyze datasets which manually require weeks or months to investigate. The Voyager application applies previously-gathered data to a current search; the software employs machine-learning strategies in a given social environment to improve results.
- 3) Exploratory collection, geolocation and target monitoring. Voyager can "survey" a region, country or city identify social media habits and local or "ethnic" blogs or local/emerging social media sites worth covering. While only a small percentage of social media posts are "geo-locatable," Voyager can use such geo-located posts as a starting point to survey and "cover", via ongoing collections, people, networks, and organizations of interest.
- 4) In-depth network analysis. Ability to visualize social media networks and personal/organizational relationships. Voyager is the sole solution for analyzing groups based on their connectivity on social media; we can identify core groups, potential new members in a group, connections to and among organizations and more. Our Group Topology, Second- and Third-Connections, and Clique algorithms provide “early warning” or unique indicators of direct or indirect connections to individuals and groups of interest. Voyager identify “Ghosts” and “Top Connections”, people with the strongest connections to a subject. We can identify persons by direct data collection or inferred characteristics from automated and human analysis of personal, organizational, and geographical information.

5) Archived, exportable data sets. Our team also offers an extensive and growing pool of historical data on ISIS-affiliated and ISIS-sympathetic users of Social Media (Facebook, Twitter, Google+, Instagram, and VKontakte). The data is archived and persists even if users delete accounts or providers change data policies. This curated dataset, and any dataset produced using Voyager, can be made available for ingest into our customers’ analytic environment. We can build similar “group” reference data sets on request.

Genesis - An Exclusive Law Enforcement Tool For Efficient Analysis Of Social Network Account Records

A tool from Voyager Analytics that efficiently reads and parses PDF files received from Social Media Platform Providers in response to a search warrant or subpoena, rendering them available in minutes to our complete suite of analytic and visualization tools. These PDF files, comprised of complex, unstructured individual profile data, are extremely difficult to analyze, and often number in tens or even hundreds of thousands of pages. Genesis spares days of manual labor, identifying and analyzing relevant connections and content, and providing valuable insights that are simply not available without our technology.
