

Justice at Stake

"This independence of the judges is ... requisite to guard the Constitution and the rights of individuals."
Alexander Hamilton, Federalist Paper No. 78.

About Issues State Federal Diversity Resources Newsroom Partners Help Us Video

Site

Facts, Stats, and Quotes

In Depth Issues Guides

Judicial Outreach

Gavel Grab

Glossary of Terms

Polls

Publications

America's Courts: A Primer

"Fair Courts" YouTube Page

The Founders and Our Courts

Testimony and Briefs

Your State

America's Courts: A Primer

ARTICLE III U.S. COURTS

Most federal courts are established under Article III of the U.S. Constitution. They include the Supreme Court; 12 Courts of Appeals covering different regions; one Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in Washington; District Courts for 94 federal judicial districts; and the Court of International Trade.

These courts hear cases involving the constitutionality of laws; criminal and civil cases involving the laws and treaties of the United States; and disputes between two or more states.

Article III Court judges are nominated by the president, confirmed by the Senate and have life tenure, which can be taken away only through impeachment and conviction by the U.S. Senate.

ARTICLE I U.S. COURTS

These are established by Congress under Article I of the U.S. Constitution and include the U.S. Court of Military Appeals; the U.S. Court of Veterans Appeals; the U.S. Court of Federal Claims; the U.S. Tax Court; and Bankruptcy Courts, which are separate units of the District Courts. Unlike Article III judges, these fall within the executive branch of the government.

Article I Courts do not have full judicial power. They cannot issue a final decision in all questions of Constitutional law, all questions of federal law or hear claims at the core of habeas corpus issues.

STATE COURTS

Organized under each state's constitution, state courts hear most criminal cases, probate (involving wills and estates), personal injury cases, and family law cases. They hear appeals under state laws and constitutions. It is estimated that they handle 95 percent of all active litigation in courts in the United States. Many states also have municipal court systems that hear cases involving traffic and other minor offenses.

OUR COURTS PROTECT US. ARE WE PROTECTING THEM?

Want to find out more about the courts? Click here to read about Our Courts America, a civics education project of Justice at Stake.

Justice at Stake

717 D Street, NW, Suite 203 | Washington, DC 20004

Phone: 202-588-9700 | Fax: 202-588-9485

JUSTICE AT STAKE CAMPAIGN CFC# 47694

Get Involved

Help Justice at Stake protect fair and impartial courts.

Keep our courts fair and impartial.

Copyright © 2018. Justice at Stake. All Rights Reserved.

Sitemap | Feedback | Privacy Policy

The positions and policies of Justice at Stake publications and campaign partners are their own, and do not necessarily reflect those of other campaign partners or board members.

Website Design in Iowa by Global Reach