[McRae daughter]: "These pins represent my dad's perfect Sunday School attendance. My grandmother cherished them. This jewelry box was my dad's inheritance. You see, he was orphaned at 15.

He supported himself through high school, went to college on a football scholarship, coached and taught high school, then put himself through law school.

He fought with strength and was elected to the state Supreme Court.

My dad's proud that he stands up for ordinary Mississippians. It's been said that courage is great under pressure. That's my dad, Chuck McRae."
